"I must admit to being initially sceptical. Too often in education, we are offered 'the next big thing' especially in the technology space, only to be disappointed. However, we soon saw that Everest is different. It's obvious that this is an education-centric solution and that a lot of thought has gone into the ease of use, especially for teachers. Implementation was quick and easy and we are already seeing great take-up from staff as well as very positive feedback from parents.
